

MRS. HEBBER M. WELLS and Mrs. David E. Hampstead were hostesses at a charming tea yesterday afternoon at the home of the former, the event being in honor of Mrs. Frank W. Jennings of Boise and Mrs. Leroy Dinwiddie, one of the season's most popular brides. Some 225 guests were bidden, the hours of the tea being from 3 to 6 o'clock. Men were included in the invitations and a number called during the later hours of the afternoon. The Wells home was attractively decorated in honor of the event. All about the walls in the parlor were hanging vases filled with gorgeous red peonies, while high vases of the same flowers and low bowls of velvety dark red roses stood on mantel and piano. Low cut-glass bowls of bluish roses and peonies of the same hue were the only decorations used in the library, where punch was served. Deep red roses were also seen in the hall, where a stringed orchestra furnished an enjoyable programme of classic and popular music. The dining-room made a striking picture with its wealth of yellow roses, yellow shades and ornaments of hammered brass. The oval table was covered with a cloth richly embroidered in yellow, and in the center was a handsome high candlestick of hammered brass, with smaller candlesticks at diagonal corners holding candles and shades of yellow. Surrounding the central candlestick and forming a circle was a dozen low bowls of hammered brass, and with the old-fashioned coffee service of brass, the table was attractive looking indeed. Yellow shades covered the lamps of the chandelier and cast a merry glow over the dining-room, this being the only room where lights were used. Vases of yellow roses and single candlesticks with candles and shades of yellow also ornamented sideboard, mantel and cabinet. Rugs and settees made the porch an inviting resting place, an immense American flag making a beautiful screen to the east. Assisting Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Hampstead in entertaining their guests were Mrs. Benner X. Smith, Mrs. O. A. Howard, Mrs. David S. Murray, Mrs. Robert Gould Smith, Mrs. Charles S. Hurton, Mrs. L. E. Riter, Mrs. Roy Hampton, Miss Edith Shearman, Miss Blanche Kimball, Miss Jasmine Young, Miss Emily Read.

One of the prettiest luncheons of the week was that of yesterday when Mrs. John W. Delano entertained for her friends, members of the P. I. X. club. Thomas Weir. Low bowls of pink roses, with pink-shaded candleabra, formed the beautiful table decorations. Covers were laid for fourteen.

An announcement luncheon was given by Miss May Billings yesterday at the Commercial club, when her engagement to B. W. White was made known to her most intimate girl friends, members of the P. I. X. club. The table was laid in the private dining-room and was a picture with its decorations of pale pink carnations. In the center was a large round mirror, almost hidden in the flowers and scattered loosely over the cloth was a mass of the same fragrant flowers. Place cards were ornamented with pictures of summer girls done in water colors, and attached to each was a cluster of ripe cherries. From the center to the plate of each guest was a narrow ribbon of pale green. At the close of the luncheon the guests were invited to take these ribbons, and found that attached to each and concealed beneath the mirror in the center of the table were heart-shaped cards bearing the formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Billings and Mr. White. Those who enjoyed the delightful luncheon were Mrs. Charles Billings, Mrs. Frederick Sinclair, Miss Leda Rawlins, Miss Alma Young, Miss Ella Mantor, Miss Annie Adams, Miss Daisy Raybould, Miss Pearl Weiler, Miss Marjorie Ellerbe, Miss Mary Sharp, Miss Abbie Wells, Miss Evelyn Thomas, Miss Jennie Lynn.

Artistic in the extreme were the decorations for the luncheon at which Mrs. Ellsworth Daggett entertained yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. David Keith. One long table was used and over the cloth were thickly scattered the leaves of the wild asparagus. A small cut-glass bowl of sego lilies stood in the center of the table, while dozens of tiny vases holding three or four of the flowers gave the appearance of a small field of lilies, and the effect was altogether beautiful. At the plates of the guests were fans covered with green, resembling a large lily leaf, and to each was tied a cluster of sego lilies, the white ribbon bearing the name. Bowls of the lilies were seen on mantel and sideboard, while deep red roses and sego lilies were used in the parlor, the lilies in the library and syringa in the hall. Green and white were carried out in the menu as well as in the decorations, and the luncheon was altogether one of the most delightful affairs of the week. After luncheon the guests enjoyed coffee on the south-east porch, which is fitted up in Oriental fashion and is an ideal place for entertaining on a summer's day. Mrs. Daggett's guests were Mrs. David Keith, Mrs. Edwin F. Holmes, Mrs. Perry S. Heath, Mrs. J. B. Thompson, Mrs. George M. Downey, Mrs. George Phelps Holman, Mrs. Robert Harkness, Mrs. M. S. Woodward, Mrs. D. Moore Lindsay.

Humors

Come to the surface in the spring as in no other season. It's a pity they don't run themselves all off that way, but in spite of pimples and other eruptions, they mostly remain in the system. That's bad. Hood's Sarsaparilla removes them and cures all the painful and disgusting troubles they cause. Nothing else cleanses the system and clears the complexion like Hood's.
